

We Envision a Kansas City Where...

- People garden at home, in vacant lots, and at community sites
- Urban farmers produce food to supply the wider community
- Children and youth garden at their schools, community centers and in other educational settings
- Every resident has genuine access to locally grown foods through farmers' markets, on-site stands, food pantries, meal programs and other retail and free distribution sites

Want to get involved?

Get Growing KC has a wide range of volunteer opportunities. We'd love to talk to you about how YOU can help our city Get Growing.

Get Growing KC supports individuals and communities in creating a healthy food system that includes good food, farms and gardens growing in every neighborhood.

Contact us for more information on our programs, resources, volunteer opportunities, workshop registration and for a calendar of upcoming events.

How We Can Help

Get Growing KC is a two year campaign to help YOU get growing. Our focus is on communities with the least access to good food and the most challenges to growing their own food.

Our team provides:

Free Technical Assistance

- Growing food at home
- Participating in or starting a community garden.
- Farm business development and management
- Food project planning and development

We Offer

Presentations on ways to grow and access food in your neighborhood

Workshops on home gardening, community gardening and urban farming

Community networking to establish long-term relationships that promote fresh food and healthy eating

Mini-grants for qualified applicants in starting or expanding their community garden or farm

Are You on the Map?

Join us in building our GET GROWING KC MAP to show the progress our city is making toward a stronger and healthier local food system.

We invite ALL gardeners and farmers to take our survey and demonstrate that Kansas City is growing! Haven't started growing yet? This is your call to action! Get out in the dirt, plant some seeds and get your growing counted!
